Skills

- Passionate for writing:

I love creative writing, creating stories and building-worlds that are full of lore and actually feels alive. I started writing short stories and full on series in 2018 in WebNovel website and I also worked for the otaku centered website "Anime Corner".

- Strong Passion for Technology:

I've started building PCs since I was 13 years old and ever since I've been upgrading and building PCs for other people. I also have self-studied a lot of PC building lessons and the math behind them, overclocking them, and a lot of making the system run wild while the airflow and temperature is still good.

- Team Collaboration:

I will forever be glad to lead or be part of a team that are passionate with the same passion as I have and I will always be the Game Director/Head Designer my former group told me.
